STUDENT LIFE

The Hilltop Comes Alive

Starting slowly, students filter in from all parts of the country. With the first days of campus life comes the meeting of new faces, renewing old friendships, reliving summer experiences, and planning the coming semester. As the pace quickens, Bradley's 5336 students experience the ups and downs of registration, following the Bradley formula: money times frustration, divided by closed classes, raised to the power of confusion. And then, the first day of class.

The Pace Quickens

Fall semester and a new academic year; the campus is flooded with wandering freshmen and resolute upperclassmen, armed with renewed resolutions, adjusting to new roommates, learning about their teachers, discovering the problems of a hastily contrived schedule. The atmosphere is relaxed and the weather is warm, but the swirling leaves carry omens of cold, dreary, early-morning walks to B-Hall and the Student Center.

The Beat Goes On

With the introduction to classes and the novelty of a new semester out of the way, the campus hits its stride. The first round of tests is over, the courses become more difficult, and concentration becomes the watchword, as the students look more deeply at the results behind and the work ahead. While studying mounts, minds also begin to search for relief.

Campus "Interrupts" For Homecoming

Weird forms begin to take shape on dormitory lawns, returning alumni tour the growing campus, students practice stunt show routines as they walk to class; these are but a few of the indications that Homecoming has arrived. The festivities opened Wednesday night with students snaking their way down to B-Park for the traditional rat court and tug-of-war, a beanie-less beanie burn, and a jam session. But this was only a prelude to the main events. In housedec competition, following the general theme of "May We Interrupt," twenty-five decs were built, culminating work which began long before the first day of school. Heitz Hall and Off-Campus Men's Association combined to win the Sweepstakes Award with their "Let the Braves Put You in the Winners Seat" which was a take-off on the Hertz television commercial. Phi Kappa Tau, Pi Beta Phi, Alpha Kappa Psi, and Lovelace-Wyckoff Hall won in their respective divisions.

TV Satires Enliven Stunt Show

Marching aspirin tablets, an imitation "Rowan and Martin," and a well-titled "Amateur Hour" were all part of the 1968 Stunt Show. Twenty-seven organizations combined their talents into five shows satirizing television commercials. The winning routine, "Who Stole the Right Guard," depicted a desert fortress left defenseless by the theft of their protector. It was presented by Sigma Kappa, Gamma Phi Beta, Pi Kappa Alpha, Phi Kappa Tau, Sigma Phi Delta, and Off-Campus Men's Association. After the performances, Aleta You was chosen to reign as queen over Homecoming.

Entertainment, Victory Climaxes Weekend

"Souling" with Smokey Robinson highlighted the Friday night entertainment of the 1968 Homecoming. Contributing to the excitement were the Miracles, who opened the show with a fast-moving Motown Revue. On Saturday, the stage was set for the gridiron match with Southeast Missouri State. Strong moral support from students and visiting alumni helped carry the Braves to a 22-19 victory. That night, the New Colony Six performed for the traditional Homecoming Dance at the Pere Marquette.

President Dedicates Olin Hall at Convocation

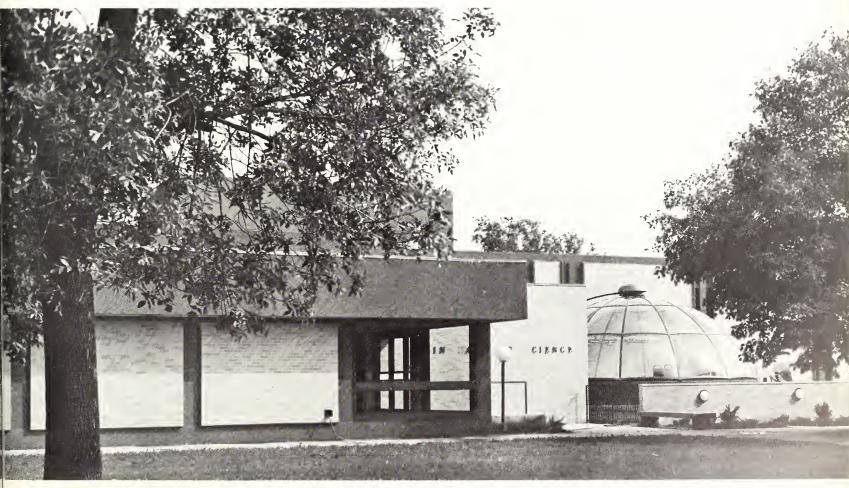

The magnificent dream of Lydia Moss Bradley, who envisioned an institute of higher learning as a memorial to her husband, was recounted for all the students of Bradley at the annual convocation. Another phase of Mrs. Bradley's dream was realized with the construction of Olin Hall, dedicated to the enrichment of the University — to preparing students for the constant challenge of new science.

The $5 Million Face-lift Begins

Part of Bradley's $5 million building plan included a new residence hall and the expansion of Bradley Hall. Only this year's juniors and seniors can remember the old Harper Hall, as the new $1.3 million structure takes its name and place on campus. By next fall Bradley Hall will also have a new look as two new structures take the place of the natural science facilities moved to Olin Hall.

And When There Are No Classes . . .

Nearly every weekend seems to host some event at Bradley. From the freshmen picnic in B-Park to a concert at the fieldhouse, the University plans a full schedule of "happenings." This year the "Coffee House Circuit" brought new entertainment to a year of movies, exchanges, concerts and others. Two events also provided a source of "revenue" for the students; the ISA "Monte Carlo Night," and the annual Dad's Day.

Beating The Blahs

Relaxing during the week is a sure escape from the 4.0 blues. Jam sessions keep everyone ready for the next weekend, while a cup of coffee in the Sit'n Bull gets everyone ready for the next class. A lively discussion helps to keep one up on the outside world and a beer or two at Maroon's is a must before any night of booking.

A Semester's Work Comes Into Focus

As autumn fades and the first snows fall on Peoria, the mood of the campus begins to change. With the snow-covered campus creating a New England setting more time is spent in quiet seclusion in dorm rooms and the library. Finals and the end of another semester have become a reality.

Student Protest Results In Library Improvement

Basic discontent with the Cullom-Davis Library inadequacies coupled with a question of priority in the University's $5 million building program brought unprecedented student action and one of the most tense moments in Bradley's history. Sparking the student unrest was an administrative allotment of $9,000 to Black Culture Week sponsored by the Black Students' Alliance. All-school meetings and conferences were held, student leaders deliberated, the President and students negotiated, and $1.5 million was promised to Cullom-Davis Library over a three year period.

ABOVE LEFT: Students make their feelings known at the library by checking out over 4,000 books. LEFT: A group of thirteen leaders, accompanied by two to three hundred other students, remain at the library all night discussing the past week's events and the results. ABOVE: President Van Arsdale announces the commitment of $1.5 million to raise the standards of the library.

Hamlet Provides Evening Of Intense Drama

Murder, revenge, incest, and political intrigue were brought to Neumiller Chapel in the University Theatre's first Shakespearean production of "Hamlet." The story of the famous young Dane was directed by Collins J. Bell who guided Hamlet (Gary Atwood) in convincing the audience that Shakespeare said much more than just, "To be or not to be."

Reader's Theater Stages Hit Show

"Stop the World — I Want To Get Off," the beguiling and inventive musical hit by Leslie Bricusse and Anthony Newley, was given in a Reader's Theater presentation by director Ronald Koperski. With malice and scornful satire, this mixture of music and mirth chronicled the life of one man, Littlechap (Bradley Sullivan), and his rise to social success, including his women, his indulgences, and his pride, ending on a tragic note of self-realization and death.

"Odd Couple" Brings Lighter Side To The Stage

What happens when two grown men, living together, have a domestic quarrel? Tempers flare, friendships snap, and laughs abound as the stage is set for the comedy of "The Odd Couple." Jack Steenrod, as the carefree Oscar, and Tom Doman, as the meticulous Felix, starred as the quarrelsome couple. The pair eventually separate, but "the game must go on" or, as Oscar explains, "Life goes on, even for those of us who are divorced, broke and sloppy."

Lecture-Concert Brings Speakers

Under the sponsorship of the Lecture-Concert Committee, popular speakers and entertainment groups are brought to campus. This year, Professor E. G. Williamson lectured on student unrest and other problems facing the present college generation. F. Lee Bailey questioned the U.S. legal system. Julian Bond, a Georgia Assemblyman, spoke on the troubles of the Negro in today's society.

Special Occasions

Lecture-Concert Committee weaves a rainbow of entertainment for the campus annually. Within the past year, the fieldhouse has resounded to Herb Alpert's Tijuana Brass, rocked with the humor of Bill Cosby, and moved in the smooth spell of the Temptations along with Smokey Robinson and the Miracles.

Campus Carnival Brings Bigtop To Bradley

Once each Spring, Memorial Fieldhouse changes from "The Home of the Brave(s)" to a circus bigtop. Students constructed 31 carnival booths representing 36 campus organizations, which brought nearly 8,000 dollars to various Peoria charities. Zeta Beta Tau paced all organizations, taking in over 6,000 tickets. Alpha Phi Omega headed the independents while Sigma Delta Tau won the sorority division. The fund-raising continued as King and Queen, Dick Falkman and Linda Delano, were selected to reign over the events by "voting with money."

Football: A Tough Season For Coach Stone

Hopeful effort, a hard schedule, and heavy injuries combined to finish the 1968 Bradley football season with a 4-6 record. The highlight of the season was the 22-19 Homecoming upset over Southeast Missouri which was capped during the fourth quarter by a 80 yard march to paydirt and a strong defense which boosted the teams confidence for the rest of the season. Sophomore fullback Tom Stephano, the workhorse of the backfield, gained a net of 537 yards in 154 carries for an average of 3.4 yards per carry. Junior quarterback Larry Selinger spread out his 115 completed passes between Mike Dafferner, Tom Stephano, Ernie Pierantoni, and Tom Whitney. The small but rough sophomore Mike Kepple grabbed off 5 interceptions highlighting his topnotch defense.

Injuries Hinder Team Strength

The season was filled with several individual disappointments, including the sub-par health of co-captain Jerry Rapplean and a bad ankle which kept sophomore end Tom Whitney out for the last half of the season. There were also numerous injuries in the Pensacola game which hurt Coach Stone's squad for the remaining two games. At the post season banquet Norb Pierce, a junior guard, was elected captain for the next season. Mike Bresko, a senior tackle, was voted Most Valuable Player for the 1968 football season.

In September, Coach Joe Stowell was quoted as saying that Bradley is "used to winning. Due to our inexperience we'll need a real good effort from all our boys." The "effort" and spirit promoted by an excellent basketball tradition was present all season. However, "inexperience" had made itself felt by mid-season when the Braves could only boast a 3-7 Missouri Valley Conference record. Coach Stowell's first stroke of bad luck came at the beginning of the year when all-MVC player Al Smith did not return to school due to academic ineligability. Smith, who ranked as the number two scorer and led the team in assists, was sorely missed in games such as those with Tulsa, Memphis, and St. Louis, all of which could have been won with one more basket registered on the Brave's side of the scoreboard.

Young Cagers Show Promise

While the 1968-69 Basketball Braves will win few team honors, their individual efforts will be long-remembered by fieldhouse fans. Steve Kuberski, a junior transfer from Illinois, teamed with senior L. C. Bowen to form one of the strongest scoring duos in the nation. Cal Criddle thrilled spectators by stealing tips from much taller opponents. Backcourt men Bill Rohlmann, Dave Lundstrom, and 5' 4" Frank Sylvester specialized in ball hawking and outside shooting. All in a vain attempt at fulfilling the Bradley winning tradition.

RIGHT:Easily outjumping his opponent, big L. C. Bowen attempts to tip the ball to a waiting Cal Criddle.

Cincinnati Game Highlights Season

With a well fought attempt to stop Louisville from the Missouri Valley title playoff in the final game of the season, the Braves finished sixth in the Valley with a 7-9 record. A team that improved with every game, highlighted by a victory at Cincinnati, kept spirit high throughout the season. With the memory of a dissappointing 14-12 season behind, hopes for a better season next year are high with three starters back, the return of Tom Campbell, plus several outstanding freshman and junior college transfers.

Swimming Team Improves Performance

Under the coaching of Jim Spink, the 1969 swimming team greatly improved its performance over last season with the aid of an outstanding freshman, Robb Sellinger. Though the season record did not show the improvement of the team, the quality of the teams they competed with proved their increased ability. Highlighting the season were the showings of the 400 yard relay team (of Robb Sellinger, Tom Preston, John Hosteller, and Tom Carney), and Sellinger's individual performances. The relay team set two records while Sellinger broke the Bradley record in the 200 yard individual medley three times. With an 8-5 record and upset victories over Agustana and Valparaiso behind them, the team has an excellent chance of at least a second place in the MVC.

Cross Country Takes 6th in M V C

This year's Cross Country team, under the direction of Coach John Schoof, compiled a disappointing 3-7 record for the season. Although Coach Schoof was optimistic at the season's start with 4 returning lettermen, injuries to several runners prevented the team from reaching its full potential. The team finished sixth in the Missouri Valley Conference Meet and eighth in the Illinois Intercollegiate meet. Dave Ulmer was the year's number-one runner.

Golfers Improve With 22-9-1 Mark

The 1968 golf team, coached by Jim Spink, compiled one of the most outstanding records in the history of Bradley. Led by captain Dave Lundstrom, the golf team achieved a dual match record of 22-9-1, but finished a disappointing 7th in the Missouri Valley Conference. The top two medalists for the season were Craig Profitt and Dave Lundstrom with 74.9 and 76.4, while the overall team average was 77.5. Low round of the season was shot by Craig Profitt. With the entire team returning for the 1969 season the outlook appears good for an even better finish than last year.

Cindermen Take Second In State

The 1968 track team improved upon an average past and showed hopes of a bright future for the Brave cindermen. The highlights of the past season were a 5-2 dual match record, a sixth place finish in the Missouri Valley Conference, a second place finish in the Illinois Intercollegiate Meet, and three new school records. The season's highest scorer was Joe Williams with 87¾ points.

Netters Capture The M V C Title

The 1968 Tennis team, under the direction of Coach Tom Coker finished the season with an undefeated dual match record of 16-0 and were the Missouri Valley Conference champions. The team placed first out of seven teams in the Northeast Missouri Invitational Meet and finished second out of eight teams in the Northern Illinois Invitational Meet. The leading man in the singles play was Bill Lofgren with a perfect 25-0 match record. First in doubles was the team of Lofgren and Brad Toburen with a match record of 19-2-1. With the nucleus of the team returning, the 1969 season outlook appears excel-Jent.

Bradley Wins Valley Baseball

Bradley's Baseball Team, coached by Leo Schrall, culminated a highly successful season by beating Tulsa to win the Missouri Valley Conference title. Led by the steady hitting of Gary Upton (.342) and Bob Swigris (.337), the Braves won 8 and lost 1 in the MVC while chalking up a 15-8 overall record. The conference title qualified the team for the NCAA district finals where they fell to a highly ranked Oklahoma State team. Appointed to the all-MVC team were catcher Gary Upton, third baseman Mike McDonald, and pitcher Bill Reising.

IFC Football

This year's IFC football title went to Theta Xi as they defeated Lambda Chi Alpha in the championship game by a score of 10-7. In the playoff for third place, Sigma Phi Epsilon used an intercepted pass in the first overtime period to down Theta Chi, 12-6.

IFC Basketball

Bradley Ice Hockey Club

Under co-captains Greg Martin and Lynn Rowe, the newly formed Hockey Club finished first in their league with a 12-2 record. This gave them the best record of any Bradley sports organization. The club hopes to receive direct sponsorship from the school next year, which would promote them to "team" status.

OCMA Basketball

Over 260 men participated in the off-campus basketball league sponsored by the Off-Campus Men's Association. Of the 26 teams that played, the Bandets, Sun Devels, Ball Hawks, and Cavaliers took championships in the organization's divisions.

HOUSING

DORMS GREEKS

Expansion Improves Crowded Conditions

This year's freshmen, as well as anyone who has lived in the university's dormitories, will look back over their "time" in the dorms with fond memories of three to a room, a two block walk for meals, five flights of stairs, hours, excellent meals — just a part of Bradley's "golden" better living for less program. However, some of this nostalgic tradition will be missing next year when the new 1.7 million dollar air-conditioned Harper Hall is opened for freshmen men next year.

Off-Campus Life Provides Privacy

After a year in the dorms, most students welcome the privacy and freedom of off-campus rooms and apartments. With visitation hours finally permitted, they have become more than rooms for studying and sleeping. They are now places for quiet weeknights watching a movie and weekend parties beginning Friday afternoon.

A Look At The Greeks

Keep Smiling, It's Rush Week

The glitter of Greek life was recalled for prospective pledges as they glided through one of the fastest moving seven days of their lives, Rush Week. In the midst of this whirlwind pace, forced to make a life-long decision in a few days, the rushees were quickly introduced to one of the uniquenesses of college life.

The "Greek" Way On Weekends

With the inception of "legal parties," the Greek houses continued with their social specialty—parties. From individual house parties to the IFC-Panhel Dance the Greeks boast the widest range of social life.

Sigma Chi Holds A Homecoming

A football game peaked the annual Sigma Chi Homecoming, as the Sig's sponsored a spirited weekend for their dates, parents, and alumni. During half-time of the football game against Theta Chi, LeeAnn Ewan of Chi Omega was crowned to reign over the weekend events.

Lambda Chi's Win Own Event

Oil lamps burned along the lane to Bradley Hall, as pledges in P.J.'s prepared to represent their fraternities for the annual Lambda Chi Alpha pajama race. Being successful in their sponsored event, the Lambda Chi pledges captured first place. Chosen to reign over this event was Mickie Tanehaus of Sigma Delta Tau.

Greeks Hold Week

"Stop the World I Want to go Greek" was the theme of the 1968 Greek Week. With all fraternities and sororities dressing according to the theme and showing their unity throughout the week, each house tried to out-do the other. Each day was filled with events, however, an unforgettable day for the boys was ATOM day, where all the girls had to open doors and pay for dates. The week was highlighted by the Greek games which included a banana-eating contest, the greased-pig contest, and chariot races. The winner of overall points was Lambda Chi Alpha. Sigma Delta Tau and Phi Kappa Tau were awarded the spirit trophies.

Panhellenic Council

The addition of two sororities and a new constitution this year expanded the Panhellenic Council's perspective as the legislative body of Bradley's eight sororities. Besides organizing rush, conducting the IFC-Panhel dance, scholarship banquets and teas, the council provides the basis for cooperation and improvement in the Greek system. In the future, the council hopes to sponsor guest speakers, workshops, and more social functions.

Interfraternity Council

Functioning as the legislative body of Bradley's fifteen social fraternities, the Interfraternity Council serves to stimulate cooperation among its member organizations by providing a forum for criticism and new ideas. To strengthen the fraternity system, the IFC sponsors throughout the year such events as rush, service projects, scholarship emphasis week, Greek Week, intramural sports, leadership conferences, and a library fund.

Senate

The Student Bill of Rights, new women's hours, the free University were just part of the changes initiated and passed in this year's Senate. Through mature leadership the Senate has been able to extend the rights and responsibilities of Bradley students, proving itself an effective catalyst in Bradley's changing environment.

Supreme Court

With the advent of the Student Bill of Rights, the Supreme Court has had a full dockett of cases requiring interpretation and judgement on the rights of students. Functioning as the judicial branch of Bradley's student government, the Supreme Court provides another opportunity for students to have "their side of the story told."

Associated Women Students

Associated Women Students, composed of representatives from each women's dormitory and sorority, maintains a uniform discipline for all women living in university housing. This year they had new responsibilities of assigning restrictions due to no hours for juniors and seniors.

Anaga

Literally, ANAGA means "place on a hilltop." But in reality, ANAGA is a collection of memories, events and people, blended into 248 meaningful pages. To this year's staff, the 1969 ANAGA is the fulfilled promise of more pages, more colored pictures, and a new format. It is the product of many hours of hard work and a few grins, resulting in a deep sense of satisfaction and accomplishment.

Between tuna fish sandwiches from L's and trips to Si's, Jane Burch, Editor-in-Chief, Pete Bradley, Editorial Assistant; and Bobbie Jones, Housing Editor, somehow managed to meet their deadlines.

Scout

The SCOUT is the student newspaper of Bradley University. It is run entirely by students as a student activity with cooperation from the journalism faculty and students. The sixty-member staff is dedicated to the idea of making the student body totally aware of the issues which concern and confront their University.

Administrators Give Individual Attention

College Of Business Administration

Versatility is the keyword in the College of Business Administration. Requiring all students to complete at least half their courses in Liberal Arts, the College of Business Administration strives to provide a broad background for its students in the face of a changing environment. Toward this end, various additions to the curriculum have been made in such areas as economics, accounting, and finance. These changes reflect the philosophy of Dr. Clarey, the college's dean, who believes the college's goal is "to develop in the student not a vast store of facts, but the ability to analyze problems."

College Of Education Expands TV Network

Mindful of the importance of the communication of knowledge, much of the energies of Bradley is channelled into the College of Education. The college, offering degrees in all areas of education, has courses designed to meet state requirements for the certification of teachers. Under its Dean, Dr. Leo Bent, the college has recently expanded its TV network. Besides its regular programs, the network is now broadcasting graduate courses to teachers throughout Central Illinois. Also, a department of Special Education has been established. Students from this department have begun assisting mentally retarded students in the Peoria school system.

College Of Engineering And Technology World Renown

Continued excellence is the goal of the College of Engineering and Technology. Working to resolve the discrepencies between theory and application, the college offers degrees in civil, electrical, industrial, and mechanical engineering, plus a complete realm of technological courses. Recently completed was a human factors laboratory which will give engineering students practical experience in exploring man-machine relationships. The fine reputation of the college is due to its dean, Dr. Martin Abegg, who states that the college's programs are "as good as any in the country."

Liberal Arts & Sciences Paces Expansion

Challenge has brought change, both in ideas and tools in the College of Liberal Arts and Sciences. 2,200 students in 20 departments now comprise Bradley's largest college. Besides a new dean and 28 new faculty, there has also been a physical expansion. This year marked the dedication of the Olin Hall of Science, the new center for biology, physics, and chemistry. Two new wings have begun to rise on Bradley Hall and plans are being completed for a physical education complex. As Dean Jerome H. Manheim has stated, the college is "to awaken and nurture curiosity, to develop critical thinking, and to instill the love of learning."

School Of Art Stresses Creativity

The School of Art serves in the distinct position as the creative arm of the university. Offering courses of study in advertising art, art history, ceramics, design, painting, printmaking and sculpture, the school orients the student to express his individual emotions. This year, the Art Department collaborated with Lakeview Center to sponsor a national art show. The school's art gallery in Duryea Hall displays a permanent exhibit throughout the school year. The school has greatly expanded and there are now 146 art majors.

Dr. Nyaradi Lends Fame To I.S. School

Since its birth in 1957, the School of International Studies has prepared its students for careers in international relations and provided any student of the university with the opportunity to better his knowledge of current world affairs. The school owes its existence to the foresight of its founder and present director, Dr. Nicholas Nyaradi, who, in creating the school, established the first discipline of international relations on an undergraduate level in the United States.

School Of Music Tries Automation

Although cramped into ancient Constance Hall, the School of Music offers a faculty with a rare combination of musical talent and teaching skills. Headed by Dr. Allen Cannon, the school prepares students for professional careers and broadens the musical interests of the general student. Besides teaching theory, composition, and applied music, the school has attempted automation this year by obtaining a Moog Electronic Synthesizer which uses various electronic devices to create a form of modern music. The School of Music also sponsors the internationally known Bradley Chorale.

Speech And Hearing Expands Curriculum

Much has changed this year in the School of Speech and Hearing Science besides its name. Formerly known as the School of Speech Therapy, audiology, or the study of hearing disorders has been added to the curriculum. Under the direction of Dr. James Mullendore, the school can boast that it is the only separate school of speech or hearing therapy in the nation. Providing for the development of professional competence in these areas, the school offers the graduate and undergraduate student actual field experience through its operating clinics and laboratories.
